customers to get their work done more quickly.

to be used as a requisite for monitoring of work.

It has come to notice of the Government that survey work is continuing to be remained distant with very few and enquiry officers are not getting in the software. This is leading to inadequate monitoring of survey work reports are not getting generated properly.

It is hereby directed that project officers should ensure that all works should be assigned to technical officers and enquiry officers. In the survey work
